GIGANTIC CONSPIRACY.

The Police of East St. Louis Ploting to Plunder the City.

The Entire Force Discharged-Startling

Confession of a Grackaman.

East St. Louis, June 2.—The City Council at a special session last night discharged the entire police force on the charge of conspiracy to rob the banks and business houses of the city. Eighteen months ago the city treasury was robbed of $5,000, and a lieutenant of police, Tom Duffy, is now serving a sentence in Chester for the crime. He made a confession tecentity, the result of which was the trial of two other city officials for implication in the offense. The jury disagreed. Sheriff Ropiquet, of St. Clair County, recently arrested a burglar who, after a short confinement, gave him the details of a gigantic compileracy to plunder East St. Louis. His story was substantially that he and two other crackamen, all experts in their line, had been invited to come to East St. Louis to operate. The invitation came from certain members of the police force. Accordingly he and his pale came and had several interviews with the police, the result of which was the formation of plans to rot the East St. Louis bank the Workingmen's bank, and a half dozen of the leading business houses. A man named Jake Britton, employed at the Little Rolling Mill, was allered to be in conspiracy, and had charge of the tools. Both banks were to be plundered the same night, and by prearrangement the police were to be out of the way. The understanding was that the police were to bave half and help the burglars get off with the booty. Upon the strength of this Britton was at once arrested, and is now in the Bellevue jail. The matter was called to the attention of Mayor Joyce and the facts and circumstances pointed so strongly against the force that he called a special session of the council. The matter was partially examined in the council cham, ber, and a resolution was adoped discharging the entire force of fourteen men, Chief Hollerau alone being retained. It is alleged that the majority of the policemen had a guilty knowledge of the conspiracy, and that they would be proceeded against. Detectives are now working on

MORE RIOTING IN IRELAND. Belfast a Scene of Wild Fighting-Nine

Belfast a Scene of Wild Fighting—Nine Fersons Killed.

Belfast, June 2.—Last night a mob of Orangemen made an attack upon the tavern kept by a Catholic named Duffy. The police were promptly on the scene, and after a stubborn contest, during which they used their carbines, drove the mob away in disorder. The rioters re-assembled with increased strength and again attacked Duffy's, this time overpowering the police and driving them from the place. In the first assault Chief of Police Carr was wounded. He was carried sway and now lies in a critical condition. When the Orangemen returned to the fight they were accompanied by a large number of factory girls, who goaded or shamed the men on to lattle and formed a most dangerous element. When the officers abandoned Duffy's the mob took complete possession of the tavern. It was at once thoroughly sacked. These rioters after awhile congregated around the police station and stoned the place until they were tired.
They then marched down to another tavern. The police hastened thither in advance and endeavored to protect the property, but they were overpowered and driven away. The mob, left in possession, treated the tavern as they had Duffy's—turned on all the taps, broke the full barrels in the street, made a bonfire of the furniture and finally set fire to the building. The police returned, and this time got the better for a time of the mob, whose ranks were depleted by the scores who had fallen away in drunkenness, and extinguished the flames before they could gain control of the structure. The rioting was renewed this evening and the riot act was again read. The mob increased in size and began throwing stones at the police. The latter fired, killing four persons, one of whom was a barmaid, who was looking out of a tavern window at the fighting. The mob returned the fire and a brisk fusillade was kept up for iwenty minutes. Soldiers are now parading the atrects to assist the police in case of necessity. The mob drove a force

Cincinnati, June 9.—To the surprise of nearly everybody the announcement is made that a case to test the validity of the made that a case to test the validity of the Dow liquor law is already in the Ohio Supreme Court. The police commissioners of Cincinnati have been instrumental in bringing it. One-half of the receipts under the law goes to the police fund. The case has gone to the Supreme Court on appeal from Cincinnati courts. It was expected the testing of the law would depend upon action by the asloon-keepers, whose policy it was to delay the matter as long as possible and escape payment of the tax by limitation, even should the law be declared constitutional. Dr. Minor, Democratic member of the police commission, says he believe the law will stand and the tax be paid. It will be paid, too, he says, or the commissioners will shut up every saloon tight.

A WATERSPOUT.

Destructive Storm in North Carolina Brooks Become Raging Rivers Houses and Stock Swept Away

Brooks Become Raging Rivers—Houses and Stock Swept Away and Crops Destroyed.

Ashrville, N. C., June 10.—A watrspout burst over Marshall yesterday afternoon and the most terrific rain fell upon the surrounding country that has been witnessed within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Houses fell before the advancing flood, cattle were swept away and drowned and the crops throughout the region roundabout were destroyed. A puny stream, known as Rugby Run, ordinarily three or four feet wide, became a raging river, overflowing its banks and sweeping away every thing movable that came within its reach. Fortunately no loss of life is reported. One of the most exciting incidents of the storm was the narrow escape of a train filled with passengers. Two or three small breaks in the track had occurred before the train reached Asheville but by proceeding cautiously they had been passed in safety. At Asheville your correspondent boarded the train. It was then just 6 o'clock, and the rain was pouring down in torrents. Progress was slow, the engineer narrowly scanning every fool of the track ahead before trusting the train to it. Just before reaching Marshall, howqver, a part of the track slipped away almost in front of the advancing train. The brakes were instantly applied and the train was brought to a standatill only just in time. A consultation by the train folicers was beld, and it was decided to return to the last station. Here, however, a fresh difficulty occurred. A mountain stream, which five minutes before the train had crossed in safety, was now a raging torrent, pilling driftwood, trees, house timbers and huge bowlers upon the track in hopeless confusion. Here however, a fresh define to consternation. Alrea dythe track was covered and the water was rising at the rate of six inches a minute. Heavy logs were thrown, crashing against the sides of the cars, threatening to push them from the track. Volunteers were called for, and there was a generous response, all hands doing their best to clear

RISEN FROM THE DEAD.

Left for Dead in a Vault and Found Alive Eight Days After—A Strange Story.

Tolebo, O., June 10.—A most remarkable story was made public to-day, to this effect: A young Irishman named McIntyre, of Detroit, married a young lady of this city named Cunningham. He died in Detroit a few days ago, and his remains were placed in a vault. Eight days later his uncle visited the vault to remove the body for interment, when he was horrified to see McIntyre sitting upon his coffin very pale and weak. His hands were terribly lacerated and bleeding from breaking out of the coffin through the glass plate over his face. He was removed to his uncle's residence, and as soon as able to travel came here to see his wife, who had returned to her father's house after his supposed death. She was at first terribly frightened at meeting him, veritably one rises from the dead. So runs the story, which became public to-day. Reporters visited the house, but the family drove them away, refusing to say anything about the case. The first one to call saw McIntyre himself, looking pale and as if just recovering from illness, but as soon as he discovered the reporter's mission he abruptly left the room, without answering any questions. The mysterious conduct of the family is believed to indicate that the story is true. TOLEDO, O., June 10 .- A most remarks

Mysterious Subterranean Movement. WILKESBARRE, PA., June 10 .- At Parsons

WILKESBARRE, PA., June 10.—At Parsons at a late hour last night the people were terrified by what is supposed to have been an explosion of gas in the Mineral Spring Mine of the Lebigh Coal Company. Many persons living within a short distance of the mine were hurled about in their homes, and they thought for a moment that an earthquake had occurred. A large number of houses in the vicinity of the mine were badly shaken, and a great many windows were shattered. The surface of the ground in the vicinity of the Philadelphia and Reading depot has fallen fully two fest, and is still sinking. Three houses belonging to one man about three hundred feet from the mine were moved a surprising distance from their original position. No lives were lost. Some miners think there was no explosion, and that the concussion was caused by a rush of air due to an extensive cave in.

St. Louis, June 10.-Mr. Fauntieroy, of the counsel for the six Chinese Highbinders, convicted last winter of the murder of Lon. Johnson, a Chinese detective who had furnished the authorities with information which convicted the Highbinders of gam-bling and keeping optum dens, and of sn-ticing strangers thither and then robbing them, moved that they be granted a new trial. The Judge refused to give them a hear-ing, and they will soon be sentanced to be hanged.

Cider Knocked Out.

MATTOON, ILL., June 10.—The Windsor City Council places a high estimate on the intoxicating qualities of cider, hard or sweet, requiring a license of $1,000 per annum to retail it in that town. Two salcons were licensed in Windsor last year, but the temperance people elected a majority of the board last spring, and they elevated the fee to such a notch as to prohibit the sale of intoxicants in the town.

BLOOD AT BELFAST.

The Merciless Mob Continues Its Murderous Work.

Another Night of Terror-Thieves and Thugs Compose the Blood-thirsty Throng.

thirsty Throng.

Bellyart, June 11.—The fighting between the Orange mob and the police last night, was probably the most desperate since the commendement of the trouble. All night long the mob fought the police, and the latter had hard work in several conflicts with desperate rioters to hold their ground, but they finally, in almost every instance, succeeded in scattering the rioters. The mob for the most part consisted of the iowest class of ruffians obtainable in the city. The greatest damage last night was done in the ricinity of the Shank Hill and York Boads. The rioters fought in these places with the desperation of madmen. Although the police charged on them several times with fixed heyonets, the mob held its ground and finally rallied in force and steadily beat back the police. In retreating, as a last resort to disperse the mob, the police fired several volleys of buckshot into its ranks, but despite the fact that several of its members fell, the mob pressed on and completely routed the police. The mob then held possession of both roads until 2:30 this morning, pillaging and wrecking houses and stores in a most wanton way. When they had tired of their efforts the rioters dispersed. In opposing the police the mob used stones weighing from fifteen to twenty pounds and numerous small arms. The fiends even attacked the firemen who had been called out to battle with the flames which were consuming several buildings fired by the rioters. They stoned the firemen who had been called out to battle with the flames which were consuming of eye witnesses state that the mob was composed of thieves and thugs, who looted private dwellings, stores, etc., and carried off all valuables they could. Many of them could be seen struggling off in the darkness with bundles of all kinds, composed of thier sile-gotten gains. The Catholic residents are in a state of terror bordering on frenzy, and are afraid to venture abroad, even to purchase the necessaries of life. Scores of Catholics were shot down last evening by the blood th

OTTAWA, ONT., June 11.—The report that Fenians, owing to the defeat of the Home Rule bill, contemplated an attack on the Canadian frontier, has created great ex-Rule bill, contemplated an attack on the Canadian frontier, has created great excitement here. Several members of the militia force in this city attached significance to it, owing to the hurried visit paid to the militia department yesterday by Lieutenant-Colonel Straubenzie, Adjutant-General of the Fifth Military District, with head-quarters at Montreal. The latter gentleman escaped the interviewers, and after accomplishing his business returned home by the evening train. The intelligence of the alleged plans of the invaders was given by an officer from a frontier county, who came to Montreal and stated that he had incontestable evidence to the effect that he Fenians were hard at work drilling for a raid, in which they were to be assisted by the aggrieved fishermen of Mains. Lieutenant-Colonel Fanet, Deputy Minister of Militia, said that he had not heard of the threatened action. "I am not disposed to attach much credence to such a story," remarked the colonel; "however, if they come," he added, with a grim smile, "they will be given a warm reception. In the first place, we were never better prepared Thousands of men under our present system could be called out on a few bour a notice, supplies are plentiful and every thing is in readiness from the Gatling gun downward." "Is there a likelihood of trouble later on!" "I do not know, but think not. You must remember we have England at our back. She is a foe not to be despised, even by America."

No More Flowers at Funerals.

No here flowers at runerals.

St. Paul, Minn, June II.—It has been announced at the cathedral here that flowers will no longer be allowed at funerals. Among the reasons given are those that many of the designs used at the funerals are apt to be any thing but Catholic in their meaning, and money is apt to be squandered in useless and un-Catholic display which toe often is badly needed for the necessaries of life.

CURED BY FAITH.

CURED BY FAITH.

The Remarksbie Recovery of a Young Woman Who Had Been Two Years in Red.

Mattoon, Li.L., June 13.—A remarkable case of faith cure has been effected near Tolono during the past week. Miss Jessie Crawford, a young lady about twenty-two years of age, has for the past two years been confined to her room, and most of the time to her bed, with spinal disease, which was the result of too close application to study while attending school. She was a student of more than ordinary ability, and was so ambitious to reach the top round of the ladder that she neglected to take recreation necessary for the preservation of her health. She has always lived a true Christian life, posessing great faith in God, and for some time past has firmly believed that her case might be cured by prayer. Thursday she requested that a number of her friends meet and pray for her recovery. The meeting took place the same evening, when fervent prayers were offered for the sick girl. On the morning following she arose while the family were at breakfast, dressed herself, went down stairs, making the first step taken in nearly two years, and entered the dining room. The astonishment and joy of the family were anbounded at her sudden, recovery, for she seemed perfectly well. Saturday she paid a visit to a friend, and to-day attended church, to the great surprise of her friends who had not already heard of her regained health.

NEW FISHERIES TROUBLE.

sylvania Waters-A Halt Called.

Pound-Net Men From Ohio Invading Penn-Pound-Net Men From Ohio Invading Pennsylvania Waters—A Hait Called.

Erie, P.A., June 13.—A legal contest of large proportions will be commenced here to-morrow between the authorities of Pennsylvania and the pound-net fishermen, which will most likely drive an interest worth $300,000 from the waters of Lake Erie bordering on Pennsylvania. The action is commenced by Attorney-General Cassidy, of Pennsylvania, who alleges that the pound-net fishermen, mostly from Ohio, have monopolized an inherent right of all citizens to fish in waters of Lake Erie, are a common nuisance, obstructing navigation and destroying unmarketable fish indiscriminately. The pound-net fisheries cover thirty-three acres, and through their immensity have now forced the gill-net fishermen, an interest worth $1,000,000, out of the trade, but have almost depopulated the waters of Lake Erie at this port of game fish. Great indignation exists among citizens against the pound-net men. The latter have armed forces watching their nets. The courts will be asked to restrain the pound-net men from fishing in Pennsylvania waters.

A GIGANTIC SCHEME.

Texas Cattlemen form an Organization for the Purpose of Sinking Wells in the Drouth Districts.

Conrus Chuisti, Tex., June 13.—Cattlemen in this section, profiting by dear experionce, resulting from the recent disastrous drouth, have organized an association with a common fund, for the purpose of siking wells at regular intervals on the vast pastures lying west of here to the Rio Grande. The undertaking is gigantic, but the value of such wells can be estimated at millions of dollars. A dozen wells have aiready been dug and good water found, at an average depth of forty feet. As the diggers get further west it is calculated that artesian wells will have to be sunk. Leading cattle and sheepmen of this section regard it as only a question of a few years before the great flocks and herds in Presidio and far Western Texas will be watered by artesian wells. An unusal number of horses are passing northward, through Collin County, this season, for Northern markets. The output of horses is estimated at double the number of the previous years. This ought to make horses cheap at Chicago, St. Louis and the East. Cours Chaisti, Tax., June 13.-Cattle

He was finally excorted home by officers, followed by an infuriated mob, who made violent efforts to lay hands upon him. Daley attempted to preach at the same place last Sunday, but was prevented.
